This is an experimental new feature. It's experimental because it can happen that Postfix issue where it would add two emails to your inbox...

touch /var/clearos/mail_routing/forwarders

At this point, you should be able to see a new "Forwarders" section when adding/editing a user where you can add an external email.

You'll need to open port 25 (SMTP) if you want mail to arrive from external servers (but not if it's just mails originating from this server)
